R. W. F. ASSAULT AT ARMS.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent last Saturday when the Royal Welch Fusiliers gave an assault at arms on the New Parade Ground in the presence of a large number of people. The programme had been arranged with considerable care and evidence of the excellent training the men had undergone was apparent in the manner they carried out their work. The Officer Administering the Government (H. E. Major General Sir W. J. Gascoigne K.C.M.G.) and Lady Gascoigne were among those present with many of the leading citizens. The Regimental band was in attendance and discoursed sweet music during the proceedings.

PRESENTATION TO THE REV. G. J. WILLIAMS.

On Friday evening, a very pleasing function took place at the Union Church on the occasion of the approaching departure of the Rev. and Mrs. G. J. Williams for home. The couple were the happy recipients of a carved black wood writing desk, a black wood chair, an inkstand with silver bottle—from the soldier and sailor members of the Christian Endeavour Society, and also an illuminated address. Surmounted by a photograph of the Union Church, besides a silver glove-box a silver rose—bowl on a black wood stand from the Ladies Committee of the Society. The Rev. G. J. Williams preached a farewell sermon yesterday morning before a very big congregation. The best wishes of a large circle of friends go with Mr. and Mrs. Williams on their departure from the Colony.

FIRES IN HONGKONG.

At about one o'clock yesterday, the fire bell rang and denoted that a fire had broken out in the Central part of the town. It was soon discovered that No. 75, Jervois Street was in a fiery blaze, and being fanned by a strong breeze soon spread to the adjoining houses on both sides, viz Nos. 71 and 73. The fire Brigade, under Acting Deputy Superintendent Mackie and Mr. Macdonald, soon arrived on the scene and succeeded in confining the conflagration to the houses. The flames also caught hold on No. 12 a Bird Street situated at the back of Jervois Street. During the operations P. C. Arie and a Chinese fireman were slightly injured by the falling debris and were taken to the hospital. The cause of the fire is at present unknown. The premises were entirely gutted, and were insured for $11,500 on the Fook On Insurance Company. An alarm of fire was also raised on Saturday night, and the outbreak was found to be in the Victoria Barracks. The fire was easily extinguished by the occupants. Very little damage was done.

WATCH AND PRAY.

(Written for the Hongkong Telegraph.)

"Professor Simpson, in his second memorandum on plague makes an old suggestion viz, that of fining the residents of a street in the event of a dead body being found in it."—Hongkong Telegraph.

All hail Professor! your's the praise, For having thus divined. A method sure this course to meet, Of dumping bodies in the street! It must ensure, it's swift defeat, When every house is fined.

Your synthesis so simple is, Such keen acumen shows! Such justice, in your wisdom lurks! That he who fumigation shirks, And gains the city's welfare works, No more upbraid you goes.

Patrols were quite inadequate To make the evil cease. Therefore, thus your deductions run— The way to find the guilty one, Is— "Would make the plague decrease."

But sweeping measures such as these, Might seem unfair to some. I sadly fear your scheme, great Sir, Is— please correct me if I err— The sort of plan that might occur To famous Bumbledom.

Suppose for sake of argument, While sleep your senses panned, Within your street a stranger stopped, And on the ground a body dropped. Would you with equal zeal adopt The course you recommend?

No! No! Professor, this at least, The lay-mind can discern. If every resident must pay, For fault he cannot well defray, There's nothing left to him, but pray, "May Heaven shelter us!"

Of else, forego his wonted sleep, And with a loaded gun, Upon his doorstep perch at night, Less body-dumper leave in sight, Until the gracious morning light, Announce his vigil done.

BAROUFSKY'S VAUDEVILLE COMPANY.

The above talented company announces that they will give a farewell performance at the City Hall to-morrow night, when new features, consisting of dancing, singing, tableaux, concluding with a pantomime, entitled, "A Girl's Boarding School," will be given. The above Company gave a very successful performance at the Chung Hing Theatre last night, before a large crowd of Celestials.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT.

IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

Before His Hon. W. Maugh Goodman (Chief Justice) and His Honour T. Sercombe Smith (Acting Puisne Judge).

April 26th.

HOWARD AND STEPHENS V. THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Plaintiffs asked leave to appeal to His Majesty in Privy Council from a decision of the Full Court on 24th March, refusing to grant plaintiffs special leave to appeal to the Full Court from a judgement of Sir John Carrington delivered on 1st December, 1900. Mr. M. J. D. Stephens, solicitor, appeared for the plaintiffs. The Attorney-General was not present.

After hearing arguments adduced by Mr. Stephens.

The Chief Justice said—This is a petition of Mr. Thomas Howard and Mr. Matthew John Denman Stephens, the plaintiffs in an action brought against the Attorney-General of Hongkong, asking that they may have leave to appeal to His Majesty the King in Privy Council, from a decision, which they call in their petition judgement, of the Full Court of this Colony, delivered on the 24th March, 1902, the effect of special leave to appeal to the Full Court from a judgement of Sir John W. Carrington, the then Chief Justice of Hongkong, delivered on the 1st December, 1900. The decision of the 24th March, 1902, discharged a Rule Nisi that had been obtained by the plaintiffs on 13th March, 1902, calling upon the Attorney-General to show cause why they should not have such special leave to grant special leave. It is from this refusal that the plaintiffs now desire to appeal to His Majesty in Council. It will conduce to clearness if matters are set forth. On 22nd November, then Major-General Black, C.B., the Officer then Administering the Government of this Colony, awarded a sum of $150,000, under Section 7, sub sec. VI, of the Praya Reclamation Ordinance, 1889, by way of compensation for any injury sustained by the plaintiffs, Howard and Stephens, by the reclamation works carried out under the authority of that Ordinance.

THE PLAINTIFFS, NOT BEING SATISFIED with that award, brought a petition against the Attorney-General of the Colony under the provisions of Section 83 of the Hongkong Code of Procedure, 1873, at that time in force. (Ordinance No. 13 of 1873). Section 83 provided that—All claims against the Government of the Colony of the same nature as claims within the provisions of "The Petitions of Right Act, 1860," may, with the consent of the Governor, be preferred in the Supreme Court in a suit instituted by the claimant as plaintiff against the Attorney-General as defendant. That petition was filed on 21st December 1899, and claimed to have the award in question wholly set aside and declared by the Court to be wholly null and void and of no effect. It is not necessary for the Court, on this occasion, to give any opinion on the question whether proceedings of this kind come within the purview of the Petition of Right Act, 1860. The answer to the petition, besides raising various issues of fact, raised one of law, which was ordered to be tried before the issues of fact. The issue of law, as settled by the Court, was as follows:— "Assuming all the facts stated in the petition to be true, and having regard to the provisions of the Praya Reclamation Ordinance, 1889, has the Court jurisdiction to enquire into the proceedings connected with the award referred to in the petition, and to set aside the said award and declare it null and void?" On 1st December, 1900, the then Chief Justice, Sir John Carrington, delivered a written, considered, judgment in favour of the defendant, holding that the Court had not such jurisdiction, owing to the wording of the Praya Reclamation Ordinance. Instead of promptly appealing from that judgment to the Full Court, if they were dissatisfied with it, the plaintiffs presented a petition of right to His Majesty the King, and they allege that they did so under the advice of their counsel. They state, in an affidavit, that they forwarded this petition to their London agents on 14th September, 1901, for presentation to His Majesty in Council. This proceeding was held to be contrary to established precedent. On the 20th January, 1902, the plaintiffs found that the course they had adopted was

IRREGULAR AND OUT OF ORDER.

They then, instead of immediately asking for special leave to appeal from the judgment of Sir John Carrington to the Full Court, under Section 606 of the new Code of Civil Procedure, 1901 (which took effect from 1st July, 1901, and limited the ordinary right of appeal to six months) commenced writing to the Colonial Secretary with a view, as they say in an affidavit to a settlement of the matters in question. The Colonial Secretary, as appears in the letters annexed to the affidavit of the Crown Solicitor, dated 23rd March, 1902, wrote to the plaintiffs on the 31st January, 1902, explaining the position of the Government and pointing out that His Excellency the Officer now Administering the Government had no power to alter the amount of General Black's award and adding that His Excellency saw no necessity, for continuing the correspondence with regard to the claim which had been going on for many years. The result of the correspondence not proving satisfactory to the plaintiffs they obtained on 13th March, 1902, the Rule Nisi (which has been mentioned) calling upon the Attorney-General to show cause why they should not have leave to appeal (the words of the Code are "special leave") from the judgement of Sir John Carrington, of 1st December, 1900. The notice of motion was filed 27th February, 1901. It may have been observed that the present Code of Civil Procedure in Hongkong is Ordinance No. 5 of 1901, the former Code of 1873 having been repealed by Ordinance No. 6 of 1891. The Code of 1901 was passed on 12th March, 1901, and came into operation on 1st July, 1901 (see Section 711). By Section 710 it was provided that it was to apply so far as might be practicable to all proceedings taken after it came into operation in all causes and matters then pending. It may be added that Section 478 relating to the mode of preferring claims against the Government of the Colony is similar to Section 83 of the former Code of 1873 previously referred to. The question the Court has now to decide is whether the plaintiffs should have leave to appeal to the King in Privy Council from the refusal of the Full Court to grant special leave to appeal. No doubt, the courts have held that, where SPECIAL LEAVE TO APPEAL HAS BEEN REFUSED, the Court of Appeal has no jurisdiction to hear an appeal from such refusal. It was so decided by the Court of Appeal in Kay v. Briggs, in 1890, Vol. 22, Queen's Bench Division, p. 343. Similar decisions are Lane and Another v. Esdaile and Another, 1891, Appeal Cases, p. 210 when the House of Lords declined to entertain such an appeal, and in the matter of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, ex parte Stevenson and others, where the Court of Appeal upheld a decision of the Divisional Court to the like effect. In the ordinary course of things, therefore, a Court of Appeal will not entertain an application to appeal from a decision refusing special leave to appeal. The reasons for this are fully set out in the opinions of Lord Halsbury, the present Lord Chancellor, and of the late Lord Herschell, in Lane v. Esdaile in the House of Lords. It must be borne in mind that Section 606 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1901 is taken (as appears by the marginal note) from Order 58, rule 15, of the English Orders and Rules, although the period of 6 months is fixed in all cases as the limit of the ordinary right to appeal to the Full Court from any decision of the Court, instead of the times mentioned in the English Order and Rule. Lord Herschell, in the opinion I have mentioned,—"It cannot be doubted that the object of the 15th rule of the 58th Order was to make the judgements, after the lapse of a year,

PRACTICALLY FINAL. (Since this opinion was delivered the period has been reduced to 3 months.) "It is clear that some time must be fixed at which the right of appeal should cease, otherwise parties would never know what their rights were and there would be no possibility of people being safe in dealing with the fruits of a judgment, because the judgment might be still subject to appeal. But then it was thought that there might be special circumstances in which the Court of Appeal might relax that rule and consider that, notwithstanding it, an appeal should be permitted. I think that the matter was entrusted, as intended to be entrusted, to their discretion; and that the exercise of a discretion of that sort entrusted to them is not, within the true meaning of the Appellate Jurisdiction Act, an order or judgment from which there can be an appeal." If, therefore, the present application had been an appeal to the House of Lords from the refusal of the English Court of Appeal to grant special leave to appeal, it would appear that the House would not entertain such an appeal. This, however, is an application for leave to appeal to the King in Privy Council from the refusal of the Full Court of Hongkong to grant special leave to appeal to the Full Court from a judgment delivered more than 15 months previously. Appeals to the King in Privy Council from the Supreme Court of Hongkong may be brought, if certain conditions precedent are complied with, against "Any final judgment, decree or sentence, or against any rule or order made in any such civil suit or action, and having the effect of a final or definite sentence," subject to the rules and limitations set out in the Regulations and Instructions to the Governor. I presume the refusal to grant leave must be taken to be and personally, I should rather leave it to the Privy Council to determine whether it is "an order" of the kind to be held appealable. As regards the security to be given by the appellants for the prosecution of the appeal, and for the payment of costs, the sum should be $300 sterling, and the security should be by way of bond with one or more sufficient sureties, or by way of mortgage upon some sufficient immovable property, situate in Hongkong, to the satisfaction of the Registrar. If such security be given and completed within three months from the date of the petition for leave to appeal, i.e., within three months from 1st April, 1902, the Court will, the other conditions precedent having been already complied with be prepared to make an order allowing the appeal to be prosecuted. The Court has been informed by the Attorney-General that he has no desire to oppose this application.

The Acting Puisne Judge—I agree. I think that if we were to act upon the case of Lane v. Esdaile and the other cases referred to and refused leave to appeal we should be adding to the Rules and Limitations subject to which appeals should be allowed. We must leave it to the Privy Council to decide whether any appeal to their Lordships from the decision of the Full Court here is competent.
